

Walmart statement in response to tax reform framework released by leadership of U.S. Congress and the White House today:

“The tax reform framework released today is an important step in the right direction on tax reform. The framework recognizes the need to advance tax reform options that encourage investment in the United States, make U.S. businesses more competitive around the world, and help working families. We appreciate the efforts of the Big Six negotiators and look forward to continuing to be a constructive voice in the tax reform dialogue.”
